

Rules of Conduct

The AmorStyle Wellness Community is an alternative practitioner's social sharing website. People join as users and then post and interact with the website. Because of this, there must be rules of conduct to insure that the website content is appropriate for the mission of site. This site will be monitored to ensure that those that participate in the community follow the basic courtesy principles. Those that do not follow the rules may find their user account blocked or removed with little or no warning. This holds for both paying and non-paying users.

All user posted content must be:

- Truthful
- Non-harming
- Your own content (no copyright infringements!)
- Appropriate for all age groups (No sexually explicit material or fowl language)

To enforce good behavior, AmorStyle Healing & Yoga reserves the right to:

- Remove any post for any reason
- Terminate any user account for any reason
- Block or hide any user's information for any reason
- Modify the Rules of Conduct at any time

The AmorStyle Wellness Community also allows users to flag content that falls outside the Rules of Conduct. Members of the AmorStyle Wellness Community are expected to help maintain the quality of posts through the use of the Flag button. People that post information that is habitually flagged run a very high probability of losing posting privileges, being banned or completely removed from the site.

By participating in the AmorStyle Wellness Community, you agree to allow the website to track and show your preferences to other visitors. The concept behind this site is built around sharing your preferences rather than hiding them.

By joining the community, you realize that the object of your interactions is to build relations with other users in the AmorStyle Wellness Community. The website is designed specifically to show your relations as publically as possible with the intention of drawing attention to yourself.

This social sharing site should be thought of as a way to become more visible to other people in your community. In a way, it should be thought of as a site that helps you promote yourself.

Examples of the types of posts that are acceptable include:

Any Post that teaches someone about some aspect of your alternative health profession, alternative philosophies or traditions, testimonials, introductions to yourself or other information that you have direct experience with related stuff.

Any post of type Event needs to specifically tie back to some alternative health activity. Events can be profession related workshop announcements, new public class announcements, professional training announcements, therapy related trip announcements and so on. Posts of type Event are discrete activities that happen once.

Any post of type People must be associated with a living, practicing alternative health practitioner and it is expected to be the same person as the website account user. Information in the post of type Person should be alternative health or wellness related. The information should be similar to what you might find with a typical website bio. Because alternative health practitioners generally do more than simply teach or practice one healing modality, we expect to find information in the profile that shows their other strengths and interests. The post of type Person should be considered a resume.

Any post of type Place must be a location where some type of alternative healing or health related activity takes place, or will take place. The place post should be similar to a post of type Person in that it is the resume of the place. All places should be easily identified and located.

Examples of the types of posts that are not acceptable include:

Any Post, post of type Person, post of type Place, post of type Event, or any other Post on this site that is clearly not alternative health or wellness related is not acceptable. Posts that are clear advertisements are not accepted. Multiple posts of the same information are not acceptable. Repeated reminder or nagging Posts are not acceptable.

There is a fine line between promoting yourself and advertising. If you are advertising your services, that is generally allowed. If you are advertising something else or, specifically, products, there is a high probability the post will be rejected.

Posting videos is highly discouraged. They are only allowed only in the most limited situations. Hosting videos on the website server takes up bandwidth, thus money. The founder's take on videos found on social sharing sites is, generally, a waste of time. If you must show video content, link to the video and host it somewhere else.

Summary

When you join the AmorStyle Wellness Community you agree to behave nicely towards all members of the community, post with integrity and be honest. You understand that your account access is predicated on being a good community member.
